

Source of Data and Methods to Extract Data

Data could be found from here Wikipedia. This link contains a list of neighborhoods in Toronto. The BeautifulSoup package was used to extract the data from the Wikipedia page. Then, the latitude and longitude coordinates of the neighborhoods were gathered using the Geocoder package. After that, Foursquare API was used to get the venue data of these neighborhoods.